EWA TENNIS
REAL THING

The tennis tournament played at Ewa on Sunday was the hottest on record. All Ewa turned out to see the play on the courts, and a most enjoyable day was spent by everybody. Fortunately the weather was on its best behavior.

Punctually at 9 a. m. "Doc" McLean and Davidson, the lanky bookkeeper, faced the "dead sure" guys Berto and Gouveia and were quickly put to rout, the score being 6-6, 5-7. Rooters were very much in evidence during this match.

Head Luna Fisher and Store Assistant Silver next engaged "Fatty" Schmidt and Jenkins, otherwise known as "The Tuffy Boy." The latter pair received their quietus after a smart three sets.

Owing to a bye the "High Cocklooms" Berto and Gouveia again faced the music, this time in the shape of the undaunted Fland Laddie Mann and Kaut Eklund from the Norwegian fiefs. The onlookers received a rare run for their money but witnessed the shutting out of the last-named pair by the score of 6-4, 7-5.

Next on the board were the popular favorites Archie Guild and "Pop" Swift versus the plantation's serio-comic vocalist and all-around funny man Muller, and Dave Douglas, the doughty politician. This was the game of the day as the latter were held too cheaply by their opponents and it was only after a grueling game that they were beaten, the score being 5-7, 10-8, 6-4. Muller's leaps were really great.

Terada, the perky little Jap interpreter, with the assistance of Head Water Luna Olding, downed "Dandy" Charlie McEachern and "Commodore" Chase after a pretty game, Terada's racket work, as usual, eliciting much applause.

The tournament had now reached the semi-final stage and Berto and Gouveia opposed Fisher and Silver. This game was in doubt until nearly the end of the second set, owing to the determined playing of Fisher, ably seconded by his partner. The "certs" eventually ran out winners, however, by the score of 4-6, 8-10.

Guild and Swift then went hot foot after Terada and Olding and notwithstanding Terada's spirited play and Olding's defense, succeeded in winning to the tune of 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

By this time the light was getting too bad to allow of accurate play and Captain Alice McKeever decided to postpone the finals till next Sunday when Gouveia and Berto meet Guild and Swift in what promises to be the best game ever seen at Ewa.

Handicapper McKeever's adjustment of the weights gave satisfaction to all concerned.

CHILD BEGINS LIFE WITH BANK ACCOUNT

A child was born at the immigration station on Saturday night, his mother being one of the recently arrived immigrants off the S. S. Suverie. The little one arrived under particularly distressing circumstances, being born in the yard, outside the station. The hurly-burly at the station at that time prevented the condition of the mother being known to the officials there until it was too late to carry her into the station hospital, although she received medical attention and was taken with the child into the hospital as soon as possible.

Today the little American citizen has a bank account. Despite the humble circumstances of his birth six days ago, he has now money for which he has no immediate use drawing interest and accumulating for him.

Yesterday he was christened and the name on his bank deposit book reads "Frank P. Sargent Costa." When the United States Commissioner learned after the ceremony that he had a namesake he visited one of the local savings banks and deposited a sum of money for him. When Frank P. Sargent Costa arrives at his majority he will have this sum and the accumulated interest awaiting him and at his disposal.

Ralph Rose broke the record for the 12-pound shot in San Francisco, with a put of 55 feet 61-2 inches. This is one and a half inches further than the old record.

Honey Melody beat Joe Walcott in the twelfth round.

Sam McVey whipped "Happy" Turner in seventy-five seconds.

Rudolph Spreckels' Borghesi won the Thanksgiving Handicap at Oakland. Proper was second and Corrigan third.

Only eleven have been killed under the new football rules played in the East this season. Severe injuries amount to 104.

A ROYAL CLEAN-UP

Hundreds of thousands of dollars in paper money was kicking around in the Tax Assessor's office Tuesday. It was all over the floor and stuffed into boxes. Occasionally, an employee bearing books or boxes, shoved a few thousand dollars aside with his foot with the most nonchalant air. Sometimes it was actually trod under foot. Never before in government circles in Hawaii has money been so spurned and carelessly looked after. Had it been so much waste paper it could not have been treated with so little concern. Had King Kalakaua been alive and on his throne those employees would have been more careful of the money, but as Kalakaua is dead and the monarchy is dead also, the money is treated with absolutely no consideration as to its face value.

No wonder, for the money has no value to day, except as relics. It was good money during the monarchy. With the passing of the Hawaiian Kingdom and the erection of the Republic upon its ruins, and eventually the establishment of Hawaii as a Territory of the American Union, the money became null and void.

These shillings are little more than two inches wide and four inches long. They were laid away by the treasury vaults in sheets containing ten bills each. There were bunches of sheets where each shillings represented $100, making each sheet worth $1000. A bunch of sixty sheets represented a value of $60,000. It was such a bunch that was kicked aside. Then there was an armful of shillings of the value of $30 per shilling. There were perhaps hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of money in lesser denominations than the $100 ones. In fact there was money to burn, for in all probability the stuff will shortly be converted into smoke and ashes at an official bonfire presided over by the Territorial Archivist and Territorial Treasurer.

Then there were great blanket sheets of bonds, the remnants of the famous London loan of a million dollars which was negotiated by Col. George W. Macfarlane. These bonds were elaborate and bore a handsome vignette of King Kalakaua. This was the loan of 1886. Each bond represents 100 pounds sterling, or did, and there was a great array of coupons attached to each. There were many thousands of dollars represented by this batch of bonds.

Then there was a common wooden box. Inside were small tin cans and in each was a coin die. From this collection of dies was coined the Hawaiian silver currency, since called in. There were dies—face and reverse—of 10, 25 and 50 cent, and one dollar pieces. The face die are mutilated. The countenance of Kalakaua has a deep gash across his amiable-looking countenance. The Hawaiian coins were minted at San Francisco.

All this stuff came from an old safe in the Tax Assessor's vault and yesterday and the day before were cleaning days. Tax Assessor Holt, Deputies Seeley, King and Wilder slaved in the dirty interior and fairly revelled in no-good money and royal junk.

Among the royal junk was the famous crown of the Kalakaua dynasty. This crown after the fall of the monarchy had an interesting career. It was discovered that the gems in it had been plucked and that the crown was practically worthless in that state. It was finally ascertained that a soldier of the Republic had done the robbing. The plundered crown was sent over to the Archives building the other day.

Then a fine silver service which was presented by France to King Kalakaua, was found. It is unmarked by the usual royal coat-of-arms and has no clear identification with the former royal service, but it is known that this is the set, nevertheless.

A letter in a faded envelope was found which contained some interesting reports. The face of the envelope bore the following inscription:

"His Royal Highness,
"Prince L. Kamehameha,
"Acting Minister of Finance,
"Papers in regard to the Custom House Robbery, 1887."

There were several reports in the letter all bearing on the famous robbery case. In this instance some considerable sums of money disappeared from the Custom House between Saturday night and Sunday morning.

Then a large check book was found. This proved to be filled with checks all signed by John M. Kapena, Minister of Finance, in blank. All that the clerks had to do was to fill out a check for whatever amount was necessary and it became like ready cash.

TERRITORY, NOT THE PLANTERS, ACTED

Governor Carter was present at an inquiry into the recent influx of Portuguese into the Territory, held yesterday morning at the Immigration Station. The Governor had been requested to appear by U. S. Immigration Commissioner Sargent, those others present being Commissioner Sargent, R. S. Brown, U. S. District Attorney Breckons.

The Governor was asked regarding the statements in the Honolulu papers that the Planters' Association had had a share in bringing the immigrants to the Territory, the papers speaking of their arrival as "an achievement" for the association. He was also questioned regarding the alleged allotment of the immigrants among the plantations.

It was explained to Mr. Sargent that the Territory had made a special offer of land and had given other inducements regarding the domiciling of immigrants and that through the Board of Immigration the Territorial government had brought this excursion of Portuguese from Madeira and the Azores. They had not been brought in by the Planters' Association, nor was there be used in the manufacture of gas, for instance, or for large industrial plants, than is charged to retailers who sell to private residences. This practice continues under the new law and thus far has not been disturbed by the commission.

Other aspects of the Hawaiian railroad situation were discussed in detail, particularly the absence of shipments by carload lots over the Oahu line, all rates quoted being by the ton. The difference in the contract rates and the general rates were found to be much less than the difference usually charged for car load lots and smaller quantities on the mainland roads. The questions raised were in the main novel to the commission, because exactly the same conditions do not prevail with roads in the States.

Soon after the hearing Mr. Ballou left for New York, where he was to confer with other counsel of the Pacific Cable Company regarding its libel of $200,000 against the steamship Manchuria for the services of the Restorer in rescuing the liner some weeks ago.

SLATTERY MUST LEAVE.

In spite of the appeals of the Hawaiian commercial bodies the War Department has decided to order Captain John R. Slattery, long stationed at Honolulu, to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and to send Lieut. Curtis W. Otwell, Corps of Engineers, to Honolulu in his stead. Both Judge Hatch and Mr. George B. McClellan asked Gen. Alexander McKenzle, chief of engineers, to keep Capt. Slattery in the islands because of his familiarity with the various projects there. Gen. McKenzle replied that it was always gratifying to the War Department when citizens showed such confidence in one of its engineer officers. However, there were other good officers in the corps, and the department's program for assignments made it necessary that the officers be changed occasionally from one post to another. The transfer of Capt. Slattery was only in the line of the usual transfers of officers and the department would certainly send a competent officer to Honolulu in Capt. Slattery's place. He added it was a coincidence that two other localities were protesting, just as Honolulu had been doing, at the transfer of engineer officers stationed there.

At this time the orders for Capt. Slattery's transfer have not been issued, but it is understood this delay is occasioned by some necessary formality with the Lighthouse Board. Capt. Slattery having duty in Hawaii with that organization also. Capt. Otwell, his successor, is a native of Ohio, but was appointed to the Military Academy from Kansas. He has been stationed of late at Portland, Oregon, where he has had considerable experience in fortification work. That will especially qualify him for the Hawaiian work, where the War Department is to spend large sums in erecting emplacements for big guns. The two officers are both natives of Ohio and graduated from the same class at West Point. Capt. Otwell is next to Capt. Slattery on the military list and is therefore raised by the latter.

MR. HAYWOOD'S CONDITION.

Mr. William Haywood, of this city and Honolulu, has returned from his post as Consul General at Seoul, Korea. His friends, who are numerous in both cities, will be relieved to know that he is very ill with pulmonary trouble. Physicians in Korea assured him that he could not live long in that climate, and he had hardly become settled in his new work before he had to take his family on the long journey back to the United States. He has now gone to the army hospital at Phoenix, Arizona, while Mrs. Haywood and their two children have come on to Washington. The physicians differ concerning the seriousness of Mr. Haywood's condition. Some of them say he can not live long, but the physicians in charge of the Phoenix hospital say that cases quite as acute as his have been cured.

FOR SHIP SUBSIDY.

In a speech at Kansas City a few days ago, Secretary of State Root declared very strongly for the ship subsidy bill, now pending in the House of Representatives. His utterances have given new impetus to the agitation for that legislation. A determined effort will be made to secure its passage in the House at this session and, probably, with a fair prospect of success. It will be remembered that the bill has already passed the Senate and that it would have made more headway before the House last session but for the opposition of Speaker Cannon.

It has not been reported from the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries, although it was considered there at length during the last session. The fact that there is a growing surplus in the Treasury will aid in the campaign for the measure at this session. It is also believed that Speaker Cannon will be less obdurate than he was eight months ago, as the elections are over and the Republicans have won another victory. The benefits that would accrue to Hawaii from a subsidy law, in matters of freight and passenger traffic, are well understood throughout the Territory.

HAWAII COUNTY MAY
SUE THE TERRITORY

(Wireless to the Advertiser.)

HILO, December 6.—The Supervisors have instructed the County Attorney to bring proceedings, if possible, against the Territory, to compel the expenditure of sums appropriated for roads in Hawaii but which the administration decided not to spend.

Mr. Moir, the defeated Republican candidate for supervisor, will not contest the election. He says he believes there has been no fraud and does not want to take advantage of a technicality.

stood throughout the Territory.

THE JAPANESE QUESTION.

Mr. Sidney Ballou had a long interview in the Washington Herald, soon after his arrival here, in which he discussed several Hawaiian questions. The article was as follows: "Sidney Ballou, a lawyer of Honolulu, is at the Shoreham. He is intensely interested in the development of the Hawaiian Islands, and says in passing that the heavy immigration of Japanese is not a menace. His attention was called to dispatch from Japan that 20,000 Nipponese were in Yokohama, waiting to be transported to Honolulu. He said: 'I can hardly believe that is true; but, if so, it is good news.'"

"But does not the Japanese population of Hawaii already outnumber that of all other nationalities combined?" he was asked. "Why, yes, but what of that?" he replied. "If there is to be trouble with Japan, the mere fact of a preponderance of Japanese on the islands does not mean anything. They might rise and take the islands if they wished; they are strong enough to do that now, but that would settle nothing. The real struggle for their possession would be on the sea."

"I doubt that there will be any trouble between Japan and the United States, because I realize fully how much Japan's prosperity, which is growing, depends on the United States. I don't know the exact proportion, but I should say that fully 75 per cent of her exports are purchased by this country, and you may be sure that the Oriental merchant is too keen to permit any light matter to lead his country into war. Japan has not recovered from the effects of her war with Russia, and she must devote years of effort and her best energies to the development of her resources."

"As to the trouble in San Francisco over the Japanese school children, it comes, as all the anti-Japanese feeling on the Pacific Coast has come primarily, from the labor unions. Of course, they are a power, and they have a right to seek redress for any fancied grievances in any legitimate way, but it is unfortunate that they should have chosen the Japanese to pick upon."

"The great question of today in Hawaii is the labor problem, and it is the hardest we are called upon to solve. The immigration of Japanese has done much to help us, and recently we have been encouraging Portuguese immigration from the Azores. The Chinese, who make ideal laborers on the sugar and banana plantations, are barred, of course, by the United States laws."

"We need immigrants who will bring their wives and families and settle there; make homes for themselves, and become real citizens. The Portuguese do this."

"We feel that we are pretty badly off in Hawaii, as regards protection from the United States, and we are hoping that our Delegate to Congress, Jonah Kūhiō Kalanianaʻole (we call him Prince Kūhiō on the islands) will be able to call attention to our needs. Recently the Navy Department has recalled all battleships from the Pacific, content to have our interests guarded there by armored cruisers."

NOT A FORT ON THE ISLANDS.

"We have not even a single fort on the Hawaiian Islands. The last Congress made a small appropriation looking to fortifications, and I believe, land for the purpose has been condemned at Waikiki, Pearl Harbor, and at Kaimuki back of Diamond Head, but there the thing rests."

"Why, the government has not even provided the islands with the necessary lighthouses and buoys to insure the safety of navigation, and this was demonstrated in a costly manner enough by the wrecking of the Manchuria, and within a week the groundings of the Mongolia."

"At Pearl Harbor there is supposed to be a coaling station, but there is no coal there yet, for if there was and war broke out, the first hostile ship could come and take it, as far as any protection we could give it is concerned."

"In some ways we feel, of course, that Hawaii has been little benefited by annexation to the United States. In the old days the customs duties were used for the benefit of the islands. Today the great bulk goes into the United States Treasury. After paying all the expenses of the Territorial government we send the rest to this country, and this amounts, in round numbers, to $750,000 annually. We feel that this should be spent, at least part of it, on much-needed public improvements—on lights and lighthouses, on fortifications that will protect us, on a breakwater for Pearl Harbor, and other things."

COUNSEL CALLED.

Wm. Monroe and Dora Lancaster, indicted under the Edmunds Act, appeared for arraignment before Judge Dole yesterday afternoon. William had no counsel and said a lawyer he had seen refused to take the case. Dora said her father had gone after a lawyer and promised to be there at 3 o'clock. Marshal Hendry said that the lawyer Dora's father had seen refused to come unless paid in advance. Judge Dole asked defendants if they wished counsel and, both saying they did, ordered C. F. Chillingworth and J. Lightfoot to be requested to come into court at 10 o'clock this morning.

Father Stephen returned from Maui yesterday morning.

BIG GANG'S
TRIAL SET

Deputy Attorney General Fleming yesterday moved on the calendar the appeal of Ah Sing and 67 others from conviction of gambling, and Judge Lindsay set the case for trial on Wednesday next. Defendants are the fellows captured in a grand jury raid.

The plea in abatement of four defendants in the case of Lau Tung Pia and six others, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was continued by Judge Lindsay until 9 o'clock this morning. It is pleaded by these four that they are not being prosecuted under their right names.

TRIAL NOT PRIVATE.

Judge Lindsay is still hearing the Farfa divorce case. It was explained yesterday that the door was closed the day before, not for any intent to exclude the public, but because the eloquence of an attorney in an adjacent courtroom drowned the proceedings in the divorce trial when the door was open.

TWO MAUI BURIAL ASSOCIATIONS

Mahalani Cemetery Association is the name of an eleemosynary corporation whose charter has been filed in the office of the "comptroller of the Territory. Its incorporators are William J. Coelho, Henry Kailashu, G. Ehu Hama, John Pakaka, Sam Kamaika, Wm. Aki and Homukaha, all of Wailuku, island of Maui.

The association is for the purpose, mainly, "of providing decent, respectable and inexpensive burials and interments for its members." It is limited in the acquiring, holding and disposing of real estate to a value not exceeding $5000. No shares of capital stock may be issued, nor dividends declared other than as set forth in the charter.

Like to the foregoing is the charter applied for by Ka Home Maha Mau Cemetery Association, whose incorporators are Henry Birch, S. K. Kanakakui, G. W. P. Kihamaiana, Lucy Lani, A. S. Kaholokai, T. K. Hale, Solomon Kaloole, J. M. Harvett and S. Kaholokahiki, all of Wailuku, island of Maui.

DOES HIS BEST TO GET LANAI

Editor Advertiser: In re that Lanai land exchange, I am taking stock of what property I have to offer in the hopes that the Governor may award me the prize. Bill and Sam say that if they get it they will make a million dollars out of the deal. They need the money, and, for that matter, so do I.

My offer will be:

- (a) One Olua homestead. (Worth $50,000.)
- (b) One lot in South Kona. (Has magnificent as a subsoil. Will grow anything; good location for a town site worth $50,000.)
- (c) One yellow dog of the taxable peninsula; also seven spotted pups—beauties—worth $1000 each to any student of the article.

These properties are all and severally of far greater immediate value to the Hawaiian government than the desolate and deserted, barren wilderness of a no-man's-land that the Governor offers in exchange; but, nevertheless and notwithstanding, I offer the above, knowing that when a whole island needs to be saved from destruction it is my plain duty as a citizen to sacrifice my private interests for the public weal.

AMERICAN.
Honolulu, T. H., December 6, 1906.
P. S.—The mother of the pups (worth $1) will be thrown in as a bonus. Anyhow, she has fleas and barks nights.
